School board wants 20-point jump in test scores

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

The school board and superintendent of Washington Unified School District sat around a table for several hours on Friday, deciding on goals for the district for the 2011-2012 year. More specifically, they hashed out a set of benchmarks for the performance of their new superintendent, Dr. Dayton Gilleland, to be judged upon.

After polite debate, the board decided to set the bar pretty high for Gilleland and WUSD: they asked him for another 20-point increase this year in the students' standardized test scores. The 2010 test scores in West Sacramento jumped 20 points, to 741. Last week, led by board president Dave Westin, the board asked Gilleland for another 20-point jump.

Students in the district are set to be tested in about two months, with results released in the fall.

"From my perspective, we should be able to hit a 20-point API increase," said Westin. "For one thing, we're starting from a low point. This isn't Davis."

Westin said he expected Gilleland to find the right personnel—school principals and others—to see that this happens.

"With personnel, we can go from 'good' to 'great,' he said. "The state's objective for our API increase last year was 13 points. We're only asking for seven points above that. We cannot have administrators or principals who have been inadequately evaluated. Some of them have to be evaluated and improved, and some of them just have to be moved on."

Westin posited that there might be about 40 "problem" teachers in the district, standing in the way of progress.

"If we pulled the evaluations of those 40 teachers, probably some of (the job

DR. DAYTON GILLELAND
Superintendent of Schools
Washington Unified S.D.

evaluations) have not been done, and some had 'good' evaluations because there's no pressure," Westin commented. "The issue is, at the end of the day, not budget, but personnel. . . We're not Davis or Granite Bay, we are not starting so high (in test scores) that it's hard to go up. I want a 20-point increase in API, and every single person in this district has to be evaluated properly, and we audit every single teacher in the district who has negative performance, and if they received a positive performance (evaluation), then we find out who gave it to them."

Board member Mary Leland questioned the 20-point goal, saying "we need to set realistic goals that are ambitious."

Speaking of troubled student performance:

"I don't think that's all on the schools," said Leland. "A lot of it is socioeconomic, a lot of it is community norms."

Superintendent Gilleland thought a gain of 20 points in this spring's testing might be too much to demand:

"I'm not sure 20 points is reasonable and attainable," he told the board. "This year's testing is not going to be affected very much by what is decided here. . . If I had the right people in mind and could bring them in tomorrow, that wouldn't guarantee (the results)."

But in the end, Westin's goal prevailed, and the board "set the bar" at a 20-point API improvement this year.

Also on the new list of strategic goals are objectives such as clarifying student discipline policies (and finding ways to suspend or expel fewer students by intervening in problems earlier), enforcing the student dress code at all campuses, improving attendance, raising the passing rate for the high school exit exam, encouraging parent-teacher groups, and getting more families on the "HomeLink" in-ternet communication system.

The board also expressed a desire to change the expectation for high school graduation requirements in the district—raising the required course level to be in line with University of California admission requirements, unless a student's family opts for a lower available standard.

Making concrete work

When incoming governor Jerry Brown took a look at the J Street Lofts in Sacramento, he probably didn't choose his new home based on the precast concrete seismic structure that encased it. Few would notice the support structure of the building or, for that matter, would know that it was built by a West Sacramento's firm, Clark Pacific, in only 16 weeks. Clark Pacific's construction resume includes other high-profile jobs ranging from a high-end Prada store in New York City, to a UCD primate center building and a modular police station in Los Angeles.

Throughout the greater California region, a lot of high end businesses and residences are clad and built by Clark Pacific, a family-run private company. Clark Pacific is a precast concrete firm which has been located in West Sacramento since 1963. Since 1988, it has been continuously run by the Clark family; father, Jim and his two sons Don and Bob. They, along with 60 other engineers, oversee small and large projects from start to finish.

Currently, they are building a Utah temple, a Stanford University parking structure and a new SMUD corporate yard. The company is the largest precaster on the West Coast.

The Clark Pacific yard on South River Road is a showplace of new types of precast concrete including embedded images of Marilyn Monroe, shiny teal facades and beautiful terra cotta. It is the Clark Pacific method to build mock-ups of new projects before starting site work.

Clearly, this family likes to tinker. And their tinkering has led to constant improvements and innovation to the point where they build the entire structure. "We're always looking for better ways to do things," reports Bob Clark.

They are known for high quality work—and they're extremely fast, due to their emphasis on project management and total team involvement. One 328,000-square foot building was erected in only 3 and a half months. The 2-million square foot San Jose Airport parking garage marked structural innovation for Clark Pacific. The firm has won major design and construction awards.

Jim Clark, the chairman of the company, was born in Lompoc and schooled in Manteca. He graduated from UC Berkeley, where he played football.

Don Clark, who is responsible for new business, graduated from Stanford.

Bob Clark, who runs operations, graduated from San Jose State.

Jim Clark was the kind of father who brought his children to work and took them out of school to sit in on bank, business and legal meetings. From a young age, Don and Bob understood about the business. Then at age 13, they began working as janitors and worked themselves into every aspect of the business. The brothers are very close, chat amiably and work out together.

Don Clark is an extremely approachable man who is most enthused about his involvement in developing a charter elementary school in Clarksburg, where he serves, on the board and is Assistant Leader for the local Cub Scouts. His wife, Karen, is a very active parent volunteer. When the local elementary school closed, local children faced a long bus ride. Don Clark, Andy Wallace and other local business leaders stepped up to open the new charter school.

"Half of the students come from Southport," says Don proudly. "We are providing an excellent education."

Denise Seals, CEO of the West Sacramento Chamber describes the Clarks as "open hearted to the community." She reports that the family has supported redevelopment plans for the city's Bridge District (the riverfront area from the freeway to the Tower Bridge) and that they "give back at every level." She also says the Clarks are a "perfect example of creating jobs within West Sacramento."

The city's redevelopment plans for the South River Road area may eventually force Clark Pacific to move its West Sac operations to Woodland.

"When we are eventually forced to leave our West Sacramento plant, then, yes, our current plan is to move all of our operations to our Woodland site," said Thomas Ketron, director of marketing, in an email. "Clearly, we don't anticipate this happening anytime soon, something like 10-15 years on the horizon."

Correction

Channel Drive, presenting a ceremonial check for $20,000 to representatives of the Collings West Sacramento Teen Center.

The News-Ledger apologizes for not identifying the photo clearly.

Why not everybody loves the snow

This past Friday, when the latest winter storm starting blowing through West Sacramento with lots of rain, cold air and high winds, everyone I knew seemed to be talking about the possibility that we might actually get some snow in the Sacramento Valley on Saturday morning. And according to one longtime friend, it would be the highlight of his life to finally see snow fall from the sky, something he said he has never witnessed. I told him not to hold his breath, though, because according to the Sacramento Bee, the last time we got any "significant snowfall" in Sacramento was 35 long years ago, way back on February 5th, 1976, when a couple of snow flurries deposited two whole inches on the ground, with the longest one lasting all of 90 minutes. And after that, only tiny trace amounts of snow have been reported over the years, and they were very few and far between; on March 17, 1982, December 27, 1988, February 27, 1996, and January 28, 2002. Oh, and for those of you who like records, the most snow ever recorded in the Sacramento area was on January 5, 1888, when three inches of the white stuff ended up on the valley floor.

Anyway, the more everyone talked about their hope that snow was on its way to West Sacramento, the more I kept remembering all my bad encounters with the nasty stuff, starting when I was a kid. Each winter, my father and mother would try to drive the family at least once up to the snowline (usually just beyond Placerville) to let my sister, brother and I get out of the car and throw snow balls at each other. Now I don't know about you, but having hard-as-rocks snowballs hit you upside the head isn't all that much fun, not to mention rolling around in the slushy stuff until your hands and feet are frozen and need the whole trip home to thaw out. Then, when I went to college, one of my fraternity brothers got the bright idea to take me skiing up at Lake Tahoe on a cold Saturday morning after we had both had too much to drink the night before. Not wanting to admit that I had never been on skis before in my life, I ended up flying down a mountain side with no idea how to slow down, much less stop. And by the time gravity finally did its thing, I had to be going 60 or 70 miles an hour and darn near killed myself.

So, after my near-death experience on skis, I made a pact with myself to avoid the snow at all costs in the future and was doing a pretty good job of it until a few decades ago when my wife suggested that we take all the kids up to Oregon one winter so they could experience a white Christmas with her family and friends. And since I figured I would be in a warm car getting there, and staying in a warm house once we arrived, I reluctantly signed on to the idea. But no one told me that there was something called Grants Pass between West Sacramento and Portland, Oregon, and that the roads through it were often covered with something called black ice during the winter. So as we went motoring down the backside of the pass, I couldn't figure out why a half-dozen or so trucks and cars were either pulled off to the side of the road or down in the ditches which boarded it. Then of course I hit the same lengthy patch of black ice that they had and off on an A-ride from Disneyland we went, with kids screaming in the backseat and my wife saying a prayer next to me. Since I had no idea how to drive on ice, I basically did nothing as we fishtailed down the mountain, and without any help from me, our car somehow stayed on the road.

But since then, no one has been able to get me away from the mild (and often even sunny) winters of West Sacramento, although I have numerous friends in places like South Dakota and up-state New York who keep me posted on all the miseries that often go hand-in-hand with co-existing with snow. For instance, they are endlessly shoveling snow off their driveways and walkways, getting their cars stuck in big old snow drifts, and staying one step ahead of frostbite by wearing many layers of thick clothing that I don't even possess. So although I admire their good humor and tenacity, I can't for the life of me figure out why anyone would want to live in places better suited for Santa's reindeer and polar bears.

I hit the same patch of black ice that they had, and off on an 'A-ride' from Disneyland we went, with kids screaming in the backseat and my wife saying a prayer next to me.

Anyway, when I woke up last Saturday morning, there was no snow anywhere in sight, so I decided I better call my friend and try to cheer him up.

"Well," he said with a combination of hope and sadness, "maybe it will finally snow in West Sacramento next year."

Then he asked me if I was as disappointed as he was, and I didn't have the heart to tell him that the only snow I have ever liked is the kind they scoop up from an ice shaving machine, put in a paper cone, and poor lots of sweet cherry juice over.

DON SCHATZEL

By Don Schatzel

Have you ever played "Hey Cow"?

This is a game where, while driving on the highway and totally bored, you take turns yelling "hey cow!" at each cow you pass. You get a point for each one that looks up.

I hope your highway driving is more interesting than mine. But while driving on the highway in and around West Sacramento it is interesting to see how many recreational activities people are involved in. Fortunately, there's a lot more to look at than some cows.

In this city, there are fishing boats, pleasure boats, jet skis, and horse trailers. And in a couple of weeks, we will experience our annual decision making process: "Hmm, do we drive 1 1/2 hours east and snow ski, or 1 1/2 miles west and go to the beach?" It will be warm enough!!

Lots of people with lots of hobbies doing fun stuff! Which reminds me: the "boys and girls of summer" have started!

West Sacramento girls softball, West Sac Little League, Washington Little League and the West Sacramento Dolphin swim club have all started and are still registering.

The West Sacramento Trail Riders Association's "Pony Club" is also planning a summer of activities for young horsepeople, and they all have web sites for more details and information.

On the local youth sports scene:

Congratulations to Clarksburg Elementary School's basketball team, finishing the season with an 8-0 record under Coach Sue Whipple. Of the 12 girls on the team, 8 are from West Sac including Sue's daughter, Jahna.

Elsewhere on the basketball courts, Julianna Calles of Our Lady of Grace school's 6th grade basketball team scored 15 of her team's 21 points and had two assists in a recent win.

And then there's the River City High School robotics team! The robotics squad participated in a Bay Area competition recently — for the first time in the history of the school.

Here I am talking about "Hey cow!" and these folks are in a robotics competition!!

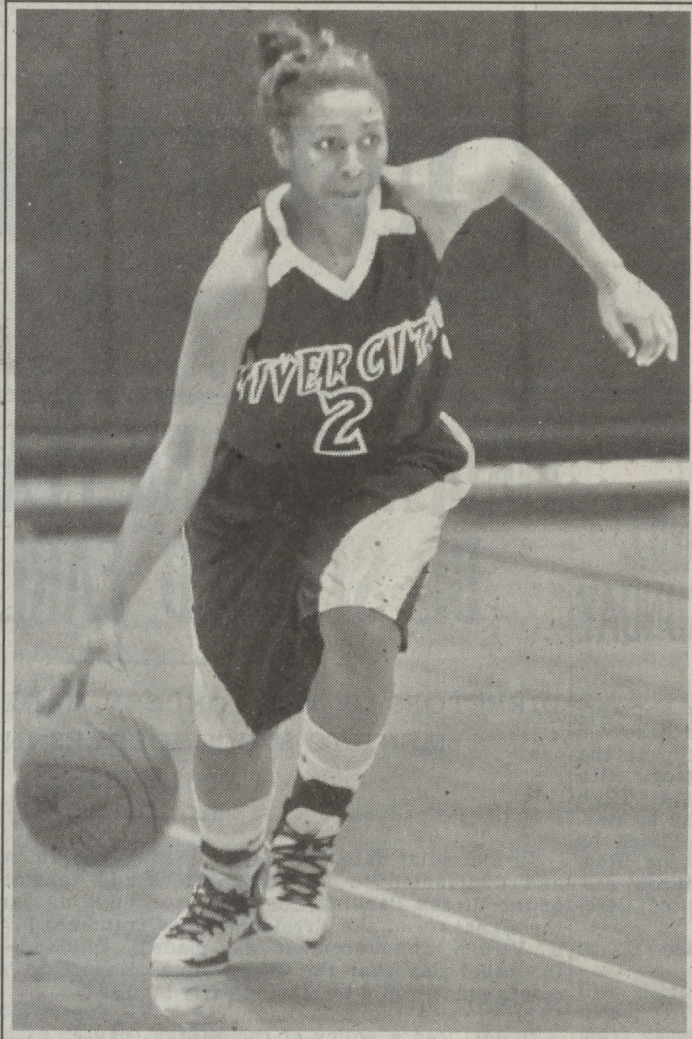

Fall ball girls softball: the West Sac teams won the minor and major division championship. They were coached by Leanna Hendrickson and John Blackmer.

And finally, kudos to Jordan Lignons at River City High School.

She is a junior on the River City High basketball team that just qualified for the second year in a row for the playoffs. Jordan is a Sierra Valley Conference "All League" player, and a team "Co-Player of the Year." She's also the editor in chief of the school newspaper with a GPA above 3.85.

Wow!!

West Sacramento hometown sports: great things being done by great people, in a great town!

Del Oro HS 'Eagles' stop RCHS in playoffs

The River City High School girls varsity basketball team headed to the playoffs to face Del Oro last week. But the Eagles ended the RCHS season with a 65-20 victory in Loomis.

The Raiders ended the season with a winning 18-9 record (7-5) in league play. Individual honors went to Tori Torres and Isabella Gomez, who were "honorable mentions" for the Sierra Valley Conference "all-conference team"; Katelin King, who earned a spot on that all-conference team, and junior Jordan Lignons, who was named "co-most valuable player" for the conference.

The Raider junior varsity went 24-3 this season, and the freshman girls posted seven wins to their four losses.

THE YOLO INDEPENDENT

LOCAL ITEMS

The Sacramento River registered 17 feet 6 inches U. S. gauge at the Southern Pacific bridge yesterday, and was rapidly raising at that time owing to the heavy downpour that was then falling.

Continuous rains during the past two weeks have made the streets of Washington anything but boulevards. The necessity of filling the town was never so forcibly shown as it is being shown now and many property owners are regretting the chance they got several years ago and missed when the S. P. Co. filled Ann street for its present track. Many people condone this condition and assert that the streets of Washington are no worse than those in Oak Park which have not been permanently improved. At best this is poor consolation, for Washington was a town when Oak Park was a wheat field. Many people now would jump at the chance of having the streets and lots filled and would be glad to go to the expense of raising their houses if the offer should be made.

Duck hunting in the Yolo basin and the gun preserves along the river has been very poor for sportsmen during the past two weeks. One of the old timers, who is considered a splendid shot, got the limit last Tuesday, but said to the Independent yesterday: "There is too much water and there is too much feed for the ducks. When scared away from one locality they find lots of feed and water in another and will not return. This gives the hunter only one shot at a flock, hence the poor bags that have been made this winter so far."

Last night at her home on Fourth street, Mrs. F. Korrell was tendered a surprise party by over twenty friends and relatives who walked in on her unawares and started an evening of enjoyment. Cards and games with music helped along a very lively party, following which a buffet supper was served which had been arranged by Miss Neville Korrell without her mother's knowledge. Needless to say the number of birthdays Mrs. Korrell already enjoyed were not mentioned.

Howard Lee had an unfortunate experience last Tuesday when he tried to haul a load of groceries to his store in Riverbank and his automobile truck stalled on the heavy road between the State highway in West Sacramento and the Southern Pacific crossing near Mikon. Hopelessly mired Howard got out of his truck and sank to his knees in the mud. Fortunately he had his gum boots on and calmly pulled himself out of them, leaving the boots in the mire. He proceeded to his store with a few packages in his stocking feet, and in this way transferred the load of groceries to the store. With an un-loaded truck he managed to climb out of the mud, but he is again worrying how he is going to get in his Christmas supplies.

Charles Fisher was around town yesterday visiting old friends and neighbors after an absence of two years which time he spent in Arizona mining. A few weeks ago he sold his property, making a splendid clean-up, which will last him the balance of his years.

The auction sale held last Saturday at the ranch of Mrs. K. C. Merkley, a few miles up the river, was a complete success when nearly all the farm utensils and stock were sold. VIRDEN PACKING PLANT WILL BE STARTED EARLY IN 1921

DIRECTORS OF THE CONCERN MADE THIS ANNOUNCEMENT TO STOCKHOLDERS IN CIRCULAR LATELY ISSUED

In a circular dated November 18th and distributed to all stockholders of the Virden Packing Company over the signature of the President, Chas. E. Virden, announcement was made the other day that the West Sacramento plant would be started early in 1921.

It has been a policy of the Virden Packing Company to keep its stockholders informed about the work of the concern and it is mostly on this account that stockholders are perfectly satisfied to continue holding securities although no sign of activity has been shown in this section of the State.

The circular explained that since December 13, 1919, the corporation sales from the San Francisco plant amounted to $3,876,224. It shows also that in that period there were killed at the South San Francisco plant 13,685 beef, 15,201 hogs, and 14,063 sheep.

Continuing, the circular says: It is rather evident from the above statement that our total sales for the first year in business will be approximately $5,000,000, all of this being accomplished while the business is practically in process of organization and necessarily with many handicaps. We have made needed improvements where they would mean greater efficiency and economy in operation, and we are constrained to believe that at this time we have a meat packing plant of the most modern and efficient type. In the conduct of this plant all operations are under government supervision, which insures the production of goods of the highest quality.

Our program—Finished and contemplated.

South San Francisco—Meat packing plant. Finished.

San Francisco—Meat distributing plant. Finished.

Marysville—Meat distributing plant. Finished.

Sacramento—Meat distributing plant. Expect to start building early in 1921.

Sacramento—Cannery for fruits and vegetables. Expect to start building early in 1921. (West Sacramento.)

Oakland—Meat distributing plant. Expect to acquire the first half of 1921.

Fresno—Meat distributing plant. Expect to acquire the early part of 1921.

Stockton—Meat distributing plant. Expect to acquire by first of the year.

Stockton—Assembly and feed yards. Expect to acquire by first of the year.

South San Francisco—Union Stock Yards. Expect to acquire early part of 1921.

Los Angeles—Meat packing plant. Now negotiating.

Your Board of Directors, for certain, what they believed, sound business reasons, thought it unwise to enter into any contracts during 1920 for the erection of plants, either meat or cannery, at Sacramento or elsewhere. The principal reasons were the excessive cost of building material, and other conditions making it rather uncertain as to the actual cost of buildings, and the time required in construction. It was the belief of the Board that there was nothing to be gained in starting a building program against these high cost levels, but on the other hand, that the chances were by delaying matters possibly until 1921, many changes would accrue to our benefit. In considering the cannery line, it was the opinion of the Board that the high values prevailing in raw products, cans, shook, paper, et cetera, made it desirable to pass this season's canning proposition, and enter the line later when conditions were more generally stabilized, and it is quite evident at this time that the Board's judgment was correct.

The financial report made on the same circular for the information of the stockholders alone shows a splendid, healthy condition that surely points to success for this great venture in the West.

AUCTION SALE OF SCRIP LAND AT CAPITOL JAN. 3

Surveyor General W. S. Kingsbury will hold a public auction sale of scrip at the State Capitol, Sacramento, Monday, January 3, 1921, at ten a. m.

State scrip is the cheapest land scrip on the market today.

Scrip can only be purchased by citizens of the United States who are residents of the State of California and can be located on any vacant non-mineral government land in California.

State scrip is not transferable. No purchaser can buy more than 640 acres of scrip.

Scrip is sold in forty-acre lots for cash, personal checks received, and the surrender of the scrip is payment for an equal acreage of government land.

At the last auction sale of scrip the price received averaged $6.66 per acre.

Homestead and desert land entries can relinquish their entries through the Surveyor General and acquire title to the land through the purchase of scrip. The applicant need not live on or improve the land.

All money received from the sale of State scrip goes to the support of the public schools of the State.

That farmer of Dubuque, Iowa, who was fined $25 for "shimmying" must be a happy kind of a cuss.

Evidently he isn't burning his corn for fuel or feeding his rice to sheep or his grapes to pigs.

PUBLIC HEARING ON BRIDGE NEAR COURT-LAND DECEMBER 17

Notices have been posted around town advising that a public meeting of those interested in the construction of the highway bridge to be built across the Sacramento River at Paintersville will be held in the Ways and Means Committee Room at the State Capitol at 11 a. m. Friday, December 17th. At this meeting all those interested may submit any data they have to express their views on the subject.

It is suggested in the bulletin that all important facts and arguments be submitted in writing, although oral evidence will be heard. The plans may be inspected in the San Francisco office of the United States Engineer's Department at sub-office, 322 Ochsner Building, Sacramento, and in Room 4, Postoffice Building, Stockton.

The Board of Supervisors of Sacramento County recently made application to the War Department for permission to build the bridge.

District Attorney Thomas Lee Woolwine of Los Angeles has his auger out for the Christian Scientists because he delects they permit children to die without medical attention.

We were under the impression that Woolwine had his hands more than full in taking care of the degenerates and the CCG ciubs.

Miss Rosoff is a student from Palestine at the Davis State Farm, and is devoting most of her time to the study of poultry and the production of eggs.

Strange that the Bible hasn't mentioned frequently anything about hen fruit.

"Charges Pending" is a band well-known at the River City High School campus; and is made up of five RCHS seniors: Brian Rains (vocals), Jeremy Altringer (guitar), Johnny Boyd (guitar), Warren Schoberth (bass) and Cameron Domasky (drums).

With their unique sound and blend of music, all based on their wide influence and interest in music, these group of kids are celebrating their last year as seniors by "rocking out" for their friends.

It began as a hobby for them. Inviting a small group of friends to one of the bandmate's homes every Friday for band practice. They drank a lot of Mountain Dew and played their songs for their friends, all the while keeping out of trouble.

"I love having the boys over for practice. I know when they are here, and while their friends are here, they are staying out of trouble.

These are good kids and they just all show a common interest. Playing music," says Julia Rains, one of the band mothers.

But having a few friends over wasn't enough. They wanted all their fellow school mates to hear what they were all about. So the band began to play at the school's talent shows and open mic nights, as well as playing in backyards, inviting friends to rock out and drink some Dew. From there they met Evan White, the booker of shows at Capitol Bowl, who asked them to play and from there it grew. The band played more shows, and more students came out to watch.

"With anything you do, you want to continue to grow and to improve," said lead singer Brian Rains. "Playing at a more bigger scale than the last is something we wanted to do. I feel that we have done that. Going from a backyard gathering from friends to actually being called by a booker who asks 'We hear you have a good teenager following, we want you to play at our show. Would you be willing?' That's a big deal for us. I mean, we do want to expand, but we are happy with just playing in our backyard. So to be wanted and asked to play somewhere, it's just exciting."

Towards the end of this past year, a new all age venue opened in West Sacramento. The venue: The Young musicians Johnny Body, Cameron Domasky, Brian Rains, Warren Schoberth and Jeremy Altringer of 'Charges Pending'

Firehouse. Its mission: To create a safe haven for children in West Sac to listen to and help the West Sac music scene grow. With its first show back in October, "Charges Pending" was one of the bands asked to play.

Following a successful show, the band seemed to quiet down a bit. Heading into the holidays and into their last semester of high school, the band took a small hiatus, to focus on their futures and the "next step in life." It seemed as if the ride might be over.

"At that time we just felt we needed to take a break," said Brian. "We never really said, 'Hey, let's take a break.'"

We just did and we all just knew. We needed to focus on finals, grades and working on our college apps and that's what we did. We just knew."

But with the stress of school and applying for colleges, the band needed an outlet. So they went back to their good old friend, music. After playing once again at Capitol Bowl (which the band deems their home) along with their band buddies "No Beatings From Holly," "Charges Pending" recently traveled down to Roseville to play at the new Club Retro.

"Charges Pending" is simply a hobby for these five young men — a way for them to express themselves and get away from the stress of school and the life of a teenager. These boys are very active at their school, playing water polo and swimming on their school's teams, as well as starting a couple of after-school clubs. All five of them have ambitions for college.

Along with their fans, friends and very supportive parents, who drive the band everywhere they need to go and can be found at all the shows, "Charges Pending" is still alive and kicking.

Dear Mrs. Fitzsimmons: Tales of Redemption from an Irish Mailbox
By Greg Fitzsimmons
(Simon & Schuster, $25)
Reviewed by Rose M. Croke

When comedian Greg Fitzsimmons found an incriminating box of letters in his aunt's apartment, he soon discovered that he had hit the proverbial jackpot. He had, in his hands, what would turn out to be his memoir's laugh-inducing framework. Constructed around the stacks of letters his mother had meticulously saved from his childhood, some still preserved in their original envelopes, "Dear Mrs. Fitzsimmons: Tales of Redemption from an Irish Mailbox" is a heart-felt yet highly amusing account of an angry young man's Irish Catholic upbringing in the upper-middle-class suburbs of New York City.

With letters dating back to the age of 5, when his preschool teacher wrote to berate his inability to "wiggle," Fitzsimmons provides a documented tale, complete with hilariously captioned photos, detailing his rebellious childhood and defiantly dysfunctional family. From bad report cards and detention slips to numerous disciplinary notices and police blotter newspaper clippings, Fitzsimmons candidly recounts what it was like growing up in the shadow of an accomplished, alcoholic father who was a famous and revered New York radio personality, and the oppressive weight his father's success and legacy had on his own personal development.

Bred by his parents to blindly challenge anyone who tested him, Fitzsimmons has an innate comedic flair. His pitch-perfect writing style has been fine-tuned in comedy clubs around the country. Fueled by his apparent disdain for authority, Fitzsimmons delivers a memoir that doesn't pander or look for misplaced sympathy. Instead, he cheekily tells his story as it happened, and unapologetically backs it up with documented proof.

Proving once again that one person's trash is another person's treasure, "Dear Mrs. Fitzsimmons" is a middle-aged man's touching coming-of-age tale. A must-read for anyone of Irish-American extraction in the weeks leading up to St. Patrick's Day.

The four athletes to make Life magazine's 1990 list of the "100 Most Important Americans of the 20th Century" are Muhammad Ali, Billie Jean King, Jackie Robinson and Babe Ruth.

Lighten Up With Lemons

Lemons add a burst of brightness, flavor and freshness to your winter recipes. Bright, yellow, tart and tangy, lemons are one of nature's most versatile, healthy and delicious fruits. Since lemons are available throughout the year, they make an attractive, affordable and accessible decor item and recipe ingredient. Nothing adds zest or intensity to a dish like a squeeze of lemon. Lemons also act as a flavor catalyst, preparing the taste buds for the next flavor.

Lemons are a "go to" fruit that can be used in a variety of ways from cooking to decorating to cleaning your home:

- Lemon juice added to rice prevents it from sticking and enhances its white color.
- Paint eggs with lemon juice to prevent them from cracking during boiling.
- Cut down on fish frying smells and enhance flavor by squeezing lemon juice into the frying oil.
- Lemon also will prevent fish from sticking to the grill.
- If you're reducing your sodium or slightly smaller glass container into a larger vase and sliding sliced lemons between the two containers.

- Dried lemons are simple to make for decorations (particularly nice at Christmas) or as a potpourri (bake slices or wedges on a cooking drying rack in a 175 degree oven for five hours). Drying them in your oven also will leave a warm and wonderful citrus scent in your home.
- Use hollowed out, scalloped lemons to serve desserts like lemon custard, sherbet or mousse.
- Tuck a single flower bloom (try a daisy) and a name card into a lemon for a fresh, individual place card.
- Mix lemon juice with natural household ingredients such as salt, baking soda or white vinegar.
- Mix lemon juice and vinegar in a handy spray bottle for quick clean-ups around the house.

- Use lemon juice to clean fixtures, tiles and other surfaces; or cut in half and dip in baking soda to scour sinks, bathtubs and cutting boards.
- Use it on its own to polish metals such as copper and brass.
- Rust stains are easily removed by covering the rusted areas with salt and then rubbing it with half of a lemon.
- Try using a fresh, fragrant lemon for this Lemon Sesame Fish Sticks recipe. It's guaranteed to brighten up your day.

LEMON SESAME FISH STICKS

No deep-fat frying is necessary for these crispy, lemony "fish sticks."

1. Preheat oven to 500 F. Place a 13-by-9-by-2-inch baking dish in the oven to heat. Meanwhile, sprinkle the lemon peel/zest and juice over the fish.
2. In a shallow dish, combine cornmeal, flour, sesame seed, paprika and onion salt. Lightly coat fish with cornmeal mixture. Let stand for a few minutes for coating to set.
3. Carefully remove the hot baking dish from the oven; coat bottom of dish with oil. Dip fish in the oil, turning to coat all sides.
4. Bake, uncovered, 8 to 10 minutes, or until lightly browned and fish flakes easily with a fork. (It is not necessary to turn the fish.)
5. Garnish with lemon wedges and parsley sprigs, if desired. Makes 4 servings.

EKSTROM

CASE NUMBER PB11-36

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of Maxine Senescall Ekstrom:

A Petition for Probate has been filed by Sean Senescall in the Superior Court of California, County of Yolo.

The Petition for Probate requests that Sean Senescall be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

The petition requests decedents will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows: March 17, 2011, at 9:00 a.m. in Dept. 15, 1100 Main St., Ste. 300, Woodland CA 95695.

If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in Probate Code section 9100. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a "Request for Special Notice" (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. DEPARTMENT OF PARKS
AND RECREATION
NOTICE OF AVAILABILITY AND INTENT TO ADOPT AN ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT REPORT FOR THE PROPOSED
CALIFORNIA INDIAN
HERITAGE CENTER PROJECT

Date: February 28, 2011

To: Interested Parties
The California Department of Parks and Recreation (DPR) has directed the preparation of and intends to adopt an Environmental Impact Report (EIR) for the proposed project, in compliance with the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) and State CEQA Guidelines. DPR is the lead agency for the proposed project under CEQA.

PROJECT LOCATION: East Riverfront Property and former JTS (Regatta at the Rivers) property, located along the Sacramento River across from its confluence with the American River in the City of West Sacramento, in Yolo County.
DESCRIPTION OF THE PROPOSED PROJECT: The proposed project is a General Plan for the development of the California Indian Heritage Center, which would become a new State Park. The project is located on the 43-acre East Riverfront property and the 7.91-acre former JTS (Regatta at the Rivers) property. Two adjacent parcels, the 3.18-acre Grupe parcel and the 16.21-acre Cook Inlet Region, Inc. parcel, are included for planning purposes only since they may be added to the project over time; however, the General Plan is not dependent on the addition of additional property and there is no commitment to purchase these properties at this time. The project site is located along the Sacramento River in the City of West Sacramento. The purpose of the General Plan is to define and evaluate proposed land uses, facilities, concessions, management, and operation of the new state park unit; it also discusses environmental impacts associated with implementation of the General Plan. The General Plan will serve as the guide for future development, management, and operation of the CIHC.

A core element of the CIHC General Plan would be the construction of a cultural facility honoring the past, present, and future of California Indian people and their cultures. The facility would be integrated with the natural landscape and location at the confluence of two major rivers. The proposed facility would include extensive exhibit space, a library, tribal archives, Tribal Treasure (collections), storage space, curatorial space, offices, classrooms and event space, artist-in-residence space, a café, and a museum store. The surrounding grounds would include an amphimeadow, a restored pond, indigenous gardens, native game fields, outdoor interpretive exhibits, demonstration area, and trails. Parking, office space for public safety staff, and storage for maintenance equipment would be provided on-site. The former JTS (Regatta at the Rivers) parcel would include community and ancillary service facilities, public meeting space, artist-in-residence units, and surface parking.

The EIR identifies significant impacts with regards to biological resources, seismic hazards, and noise, and includes mitigation measures to reduce these impacts to less than significant.

PUBLIC REVIEW PERIOD: The EIR is being circulated for public review and comment for a period of 45 days, beginning February 28, 2011.

Your views and comments on this project are welcomed. Written comments should be submitted no later than April 14, 2011, to the following address:
